OVERVIEW

The game is played best when there are two players. Each player chooses which super hero they want to be. The object of the game is for each player to try and take out the other player's super hero. This is done by sticking 2 balls onto the opposing super hero.

RULES

To determine who will throw first, players will play rock-paper-scissors. The player that wins three rounds first will throw first. The first player then throws a ball at their opposing super hero. If the ball sticks to the intended target, then they get to throw a second ball. If the player throwing misses, the turn to throw is then given to the other player. This play happens until two balls are stuck onto one of the super heroes.
